Where there is no vision, the people perish...

Proverbs 29:18a (KJ21)

The inscription on a statue called Future (1935, Robert Aitken) located on the northeast corner of the National Archives Building in Washington, D.C. says, “What is past is prologue.” We learn from the past, but we don’t live in the past. As a church, we have learned much about who we are, what we want to be, and how we can better lift up Jesus. This time of learning has had moments of confusion, tears and loss. Now, like Paul, we will forget what lies behind and move on to the upward call of God in Christ Jesus (Philippians 3:13).

On Sunday, January 1, at 11:00 am in the Sanctuary, we will celebrate moving forward with a visioning service. I have asked Steve, Scott, and Jonathan to share theirs and the staff’s dreams and hopes for Trinity Wellsprings Church’s future. We can’t predict what God will do, but we can follow the leading of the spirit as we see it. You will see that our Trinity Wellsprings Church team is excited about what God is leading us into and we want to share with you how we can be a Community Overflowing with grace going forward. This is a journey we want to take with you. So please join us for the very special time together.

There is no greater gift we can give our new pastor than to be a church with a clear vision and the heart to follow that vision. The scriptures tell us, “Though the vision linger, wait for it...” (Habakkuk 2:3) We have waited! And God is giving us a true desire to minister to all with a clear voice that God loves us all and invites us to know him and be a part of a loving fellowship.
